DECLARE WILSON MADE GOOD START

Washington Wise Oncs Keeping Tab on New Regime's Deeds.

EXPECTED SOMETHING RADICAL

Why Bryan Accepted the State Portfolio the One Unanswered Question That Is Agitating Certain Circles of the National Capital—Belief Expressed That Place Hunters Will Make Trouble For the President.

Washington, March 17.—The Wilson administration has been in control of the government just about two weeks. During these 12 days in Washington everybody has been watching intently each move at the White House and in the big executive departments, and all have reached the same conclusion—that Woodrow Wilson and his advisers have made a good start. When Mr. Wilson entered the White House Washington had prepared itself for something radical, or at least theatrical, but it has been disappointed.

The most pleasing feature of the new administration to many is its general conservatism. President Wilson's cabinet has made a distinctly favorable impression on Republicans as well as Democrats here.

Outside of the president himself, Mr. Bryan as secretary of state has been the most closely watched of the new figures at the national capital. The one unanswered question that is agitating Washington now more than ever is, "Why has Bryan accepted the state portfolio?" President Wilson's close friends express belief that Bryan is looking ahead to becoming a candidate in 1916 and at the proper time will seek to hold Wilson to the one-term pledge of the Baltimore platform.

President Wilson's appointments thus far have done as much as anything to contribute to the good impression that the national capital has formed of his administration. At the same time the opinion is rapidly taking substance that it is in this that the president will find his most trouble. The country generally is applauding his selections thus far, but the office-seekers and the politicians are grumbling. It will be only a short time when this feeling, it is believed, will flare into revolt.

Will Move Over Line To Sister State

Corporations Dislike Jersey's "Seven Sisters" Anti-Trust Laws.

New York, March 17.—It was learned positively that the decision of the Allis-Chalmers company to incorporate in Delaware instead of in New Jersey was due to a conviction that it could not do business properly and protect its stockholders under the "seven sisters" anti-trust laws which were passed at the instance of Governor Wilson. It was also made plain by lawyers interested in corporation affairs that many other concerns now chartered in New Jersey are seriously meditating a jump to Delaware or to Maine, preferably the former state, because its laws as to what a corporation may or may not do are held to be more definite than those of Maine.

Troubles Multiply For Head Of Huerta Government

Carranzas' Revolt More Serious Than Government Admits.

Mexico City, March 17.—Some 400 federal troops in the army of General Cheche Campos refused to obey orders when commanded to go from Gómez Palacio, on the eastern border of Durango, to Parras, in Coahuila, to oppose rebel bands in that state. The soldiers fired upon their commander and 200 of them have joined the forces of Carranzas, the rebel governor of Coahuila.

Information from reliable sources makes it appear that Carranzas' revolt is far more formidable than the government reports would indicate. Advices say he holds Lampazos and Bustamante, in the state of Nuevo Leon, and Ciudad Porfirio Diaz, in the state of Coahuila, and that he has at least 4,000 men, many of whom are state troops, under his command. Furthermore, it is reported on the same authority that Carranzas practically is in control of the Mexican International railway and is operating portions of it, and has damaged the National railroad between Monterey and Laredo.

Love Mad Man Guilty Of Horrible Crimes

Ends All When Sweetheart After Tiff Refuses to Make Up.

Macon, Ga., March 17.—W. P. Mize, 24, formerly a traveling salesman for a fruit company of Springfield, L. I., and more recently a telegraph operator for the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, shot and killed Miss Annie Hall, a college girl, here and then shot and killed himself. An automatic revolver was used by Mize and seven bullets in all were fired, four entering the body of the girl and three that of Mize, two piercing his heart. While dying, Mize crawled several feet over the doorstep and kissed the girl. Then he laid down to die beside her.

Mize met Miss Hall, daughter of a planter at Gordon, Ga., a year ago at a party. They had been madly in love ever since and were to have been married in the fall. She broke off the engagement, following a quarrel.

RURAL BILLS UP

Important Legislation by Ohio Assembly Expected This Week.

Columbus, O., March 17.—Legislation for which Governor Cox's rural congress was intended to pave the way is to be given the right of way in the general assembly this week. The Cunningham bill, creating an agricultural commission to supersede numerous separate departments, bureaus and boards having to do with the promotion of farming, will be put on passage in the senate. The Hite bill to tax the state heavily to build roads will be considered in the house.

Slated for an early vote is the Dyer resolution to amend the constitution by inserting in it authority for the recall by popular vote of judges and other public officers elected by popular vote.

The liquor license bill will not be brought up in the house before Thursday.

Prince Albert, the second son of the king and queen of England, is making a tour of the West Indies on the cruiser Cumberland, to be followed by a cruise in the Mediterranean. The prince has been trained in the naval college at Osborne and at Dartmouth. He is eighteen years old.

STORM'S DISASTROUS WORK

Fourteen Killed, 100 Injured and 1,000 Homeless In Gale's Path.

Mobile, Ala., March 17.—News received here from Guntown, Miss., is to the effect that the wind and rain storms did $100,000 damage. The hurricane was more disastrous for miles east of Guntown. For a distance of about 10 miles there is scarcely a building or tree left standing over territory two miles wide. Fourteen people are reported killed and more than 100 injured. A number of the injured will die. At least 1,000 people are homeless and without food or clothing, as everything has been swept away.

MINORITY SPLIT INTO THREE PARTS

House Democrats to Run Things Much As They Please.

HAVE NO SERIOUS OPPONENTIAL

Bull Moosers Decide to Have an Organization of Their Own and Have Demanded Recognition in the Matter of Committee Assignments. Progressives and Regular Republicans Not Likely to Get Together.

Washington, March 17.—Present indications are that the Republican opposition to the Democrats in the new house will be split into three organizations. This will enable the Democrats to put their tariff program through and run things generally pretty much as they please. At least 20 Bull Moosers intend to herd by themselves. Approximately 20 progressives will refuse to attend the regular Republican caucuses. The Bull Moose members intend to perfect an organization of their own. While the progressives, so-called, may not have an organization on their own account, the chances are that only on one occasion will they vote with the regulars.

According to best advices President Wilson will fix April 7 for convening congress in special session. Bull Moose and Progressive Republicans are getting ready for the organization of the house. Representative Hinebaugh, spokesman of the Bull Moose, already has discussed the subject with Representative Underwood, the Democratic leader. Mr. Hinebaugh wanted to know if the Bull Moose will be recognized as a separate party in the matter of committee assignments, and whether the Bull Moose will be accorded full rights as the minority, pointing out that in the last election the new party polled more votes than the Republicans.

It is understood Leader Underwood told Mr. Hinebaugh that if the Bull Moose set up their own organization and selected a leader they would be recognized as a part of the minority and given fair treatment.

Riotous Women Of Old England Handled

Suffraget Speakers Howled Down Incendiary Fire.

London, March 17.—Mrs. Flora Drummond ("the general") and several militant companions for the third successive time tried in vain to make themselves heard at a meeting in Hyde park above the din raised by a resentful crowd. Other women who followed Mrs. Drummond were also howled down. The crowd finally tore up the turf and pelted the women with it until they had to leave under the protection of a strong force of mounted and foot police.

As the carriage containing the women was leaving the park, the crowd tried to turn it over, and this resulted in a general fight with the police. Mrs. Drummond on alighting was immediately rushed by the mob, and the police had to fight to protect her.

THE LATER PHAZE OF VERY OLD ARGUMENTS

REDFIELD ON TARIFF ON ITS MORAL SIDE

Says Present Act Tends to Create Industrial Aristocracy.

New York, March 17.—William C. Redfield, secretary of commerce, speaking at the Unity church, Montclair, N. J., on "The Tariff on Its Human Side," declared his belief in a "real, though moderate and balanced reduction of the tariff."

"The present tariff," Mr. Redfield said, "has tended to destroy our belief in our own powers, to diminish our industrial self-respect. The great employments in our land that pay the highest wages get no protection from the tariff law."

"It will hardly be contended that our farmers can not raise potatoes, save for the high duty, or that the government needed the million or more which was collected in this single winter on potatoes. It seems to be a sad and shameful thing that the food of the many should have been taxed at many times the highest rate known for any real estate tax."

Speaking of the rest of the tariff from the moral side, Secretary Redfield said: "It has led to a certain kind of business cowardice, a lack of efficiency, to a weakening of initiative and, worst of all, to a belief that business success is the end of the law and the big purpose of the government. From this last have arisen certain unconscious but real class distinctions, tending to create an industrial aristocracy. The tendency had found its supreme expression in the gigantic combinations known to us all as trusts. Many of these men who form the 'privileged class' know nothing of what can be done by competition if a proper field for it were opened up. America needs freedom from the dominance of the dollar," said Secretary Redfield in conclusion.

TREATING PATIENTS TODAY

Friedmann Returns From Canada Happy Over Success of Trip.

New York, March 17.—Dr. F. F. Friedmann returned from Canada tired but happy over the success of his trip and the manner in which he was received. He treated a dozen or more cases today at Bellevue hospital, but until he has a chance to culture his preparation further additional treatments will be postponed. The cases which he administered at Bellevue were examined by him Sunday. He also looked over nearly a score of cases at Mount Sinai hospital, which had been reserved for his treatment. In both institutions the tests were under the eye of government doctors.

FIRE THIS MORNING BURNS BUILDINGS ON THE GLASCOCK FARM

Granary and Tool Shed With All Contents Destroyed in Fire of Unknown Origin--Mammoth
Barn and Residence Scorched
But Heroic Fire Fighters Save the Day After Loss of $3,000
Is Sustained.

A very disastrous fire occurred on the Georgiana Glascock farm on the Prairie pike in Paint township shortly after eight o'clock Monday morning, when a large well filled granary and tool shed was burned to the ground, the large house, a mammoth barn and other buildings being saved through the most heroic work on the part of those of the immediate neighborhood who hurried in and did all in their power to prevent further loss.

The flames were discovered after they had gained considerable headway, and from the start it was seen that the granary and tool shed, 40x50 feet, was doomed, together with all contents, consisting of 1000 bushels of oats, 25 bushels of clover seed, 100 bushels of timothy seed, three buggies, one surrey, farming machinery and other valuable property.

The building stood about midway between the house and large barn, and near a large corn crib, and it was through the hardest kind of work upon the part of the neighbors that the barn, house and the crib of 2,000 bushels of corn, were saved.

Before many of the fire-fighters had arrived the corn crib was on fire but by dint of hard work the flames were extinguished after a large portion of the roof had been consumed. A slate roof alone saved the big barn, as the fire brands fell upon the roof in large numbers. The end of the structure was badly scorched, but so carefully did the men do their work that not a spark was allowed to remain long in a dangerous place.

The house also was scorched, and for some time it looked like the fire would not only consume the house but all of the buildings about the place. A wood house between the granary and residence was consumed. Only 30 feet separated the granary from the large barn.

Messrs. Glenn Ladd and Chas. Todhunter have the big farm rented, and both lost heavily, as well as Mrs.

Glascock. The total loss is expected to exceed $3,000, but insurance to the amount of $1500 or $1800 was carried, so that the real loss will probably not exceed $1400.

The source of the blaze is still a mystery.

It is too often the fatal sequence. La Grippe coughs hang on, weaken the system, and lower the vital resistance.

Before I had taken one half of a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, the coughing spells had entirely ceased. I wish to say it can't be beat. All others are imitations."

"We have used your bread two weeks now, and we like your bread, but it takes too much of it. One loaf of city bread goes twice as far as yours at my boarding house." So said the lady to the baker the other day.

Baker—"You serve domestic style, [free pitch-in] don't you?"

Lady—"Yes."

Baker—"Don't they eat less of other things on the table these two weeks?"

Lady—"Yes, they do."

Baker—"Your bread costs you 25 cents for six pounds: can you put any other cooked prepared food on the table as cheap?"

Lady—"Nothing but salt, I guess."

Baker—"You are filling your boarders up at six pounds for a quarter, and they all look pretty good, too."

Lady—"You win; give me some more checks and drive on."

Baker—"You own this home and like to live in Washington, don't you? Pretty nice town, isn't it?"

Conditions Needing Attention

Washington is not a large city by any manner of means and that the city is not overcrowded with manufacturing enterprises is a fact only too well known.

The city, like the young man who wanted to get married however, "has hopes" in both directions.

Washington people hope the city will continue to grow and prosper at a greater rate even than it did during the census period closed only two years ago. They hope that the comparatively few manufactures we have here will continue to grow and prosper and that the present number may be increased by the coming of others.

No man who has the good of the city at heart would do or say aught that would interfere with the growth and the prosperity of the labor employing concerns the city can now boast of, and no man would place a straw in the way of inducing others to come.

But there are some of the factories now operating in the city which could improve conditions under which they operate to the very marked comfort of the residents of the city and to the profit of the concerns.

Too many of our few factories roll out great volumes of sooty black smoke from their chimney tops. Little regard is paid to the waste in fuel which results from that practice and absolutely no consideration is given to the comfort and pleasure of the residents of the city.

Some sections of Washington are rendered almost uninhabitable by the smoke and grime which is discharged from the chimneys of neighboring factories. There is no need at all that this condition should exist, and if the progressive owners of these concerns do not wake up, take the matter in hand, and better present conditions, the city authorities should do so.

No matter how beneficial it is to a community like Washington to number prosperous factories among its possessions that benefit is not equal to maintaining a constant nuisance and that is just what some of our factories have developed into.

Smoke and soot consumers could be installed with real benefit to the owners. To permit present conditions to continue is not only a reckless waste of money but a menace to the health and a destroyer of the comfort of all residents of the neighborhood.

To permit conditions to remain as they are at present is a disregard of the rights of the many and a special privilege to the few which is decidedly bad form right now.

Saint Patrick's Day

Throughout every land and among every people in the civilized world where the Irish or their descendants live—this day is observed as St. Patrick's day.

In America the "wearing of the green" on this day is not confined to the Irish. The people generally without regard to ancestry have caught the spirit of the day and by wearing a bit of green in the hat band, a bit of artificial shamrock in the button hole of the coat, a green necktie, a green handkerchief or in some one of the many thousand other ways which custom has adopted, give proof that they are in sympathy with the spirit of the occasion.

Although they have not succeeded, as a nation, in achieving and maintaining their independence, there is no more patriotic, loyal people than the Irish. Their love of home, their love of country, written in verse and song, is characteristic of the people who come from the Emerald Isle.

No matter how long ago the ancestors left the "auld sod", no matter how many generations have come and gone since those ancestors sailed away, the love of native land—the patriotism is strong in every man whose blood strain is either pure or largely Irish.

Like every other trait possessed by the Irish people, this love of the birth place of the race, the bright green spot of an island in the Atlantic ocean, the western most of the British islands, is so genuine that it has drawn many other people in many other lands within its bonds and holds them willing captives to the fascinating patriotism of the Irish. Saint Patrick, the distinguished missionary of the fifth century, commonly known as the apostle of Ireland, is the one man in the history of this people whose life and works have proven the hub about which revolve all the kindly loyal impulses, all the happy boisterous memories of a free and happy, yet oppressed and down-trodden people.

The date of the birth of Saint Patrick is variously assigned to the years three seventy seven and three eighty seven, and historians tell us that the latter or even a later date yet is the more probable.

Early he went to Rome and was sent by the Pope of his day to preach in Ireland. It was his service in that particular and the marvelous results of his work which has so endeared him to the Irish people and inscribed his name upon the hearts of all true Irish people everywhere.

He founded three hundred and sixty-five churches and baptized with his own hand twelve thousand people.

The date of the death of this Irish saint is also shrouded in mystery, but the loving descendants of a grateful people, the race for which his work accomplished so much have chosen, without regard to authentic date of birth or date of death, the 17th of March as the day on which, all over the world his memory is honored.

THE SONG OF SONGS

Over the roar of the cities
Over the hush of the hills,
Is heard a song that never stops,
A voice that never stills.

Epic-loud as the sea is,
Lyric-low as the dew,
It sings and sings a soul into things
And builds the world anew.

Dauntless, deathless, stern but kind,
Bold and free and strong,
It sweeps with mastery man's mind,
And rolls the world along.

From soul to soul it wings its words,
And, lo, the darkness flies;

And all who heard that song of songs
View Earth with other eyes.
New eyes, new thoughts, that shall go on

Seeing as Beauty sings,
Until the light of the farthest dawn
Shall fold its rainbow wings.

No curfew bell is now needed in Manchester as belated pedestrians report seeing a tall, headless woman clothed all in black, wandering here and there over the dark streets. Now all small boys vanish with the setting sun and only reappear when they hear the school bell calling them in the morning.

About five miles of storm and sanitary sewers will be constructed in Piqua, this spring and summer. The new work planned almost equals what has already been built.

Darby Township school building at Darby has been condemned by the State Department of Inspection. At a meeting called to consider the matter, the citizens decided to plan a new building entire.

The D. T. & I. started last week to fill in the long trestle at Peck, just north of Waverly. The construction is about 25 feet high and several hundred feet long and is being filled with hard slag which is being obtained at the Jackson iron furnaces. It will be several months before the work is completed.

The managers of the Greene County Fair have decided to abolish the free gate or complimentary this year. Exhibitors of show stock and exhibitors in the halls will not be charged an entrance fee, but they will pay at the gate to get into the grounds. Texas Again the Banner Crop-Producing State of the Union.

Washington, March 17.—Illinois again has yielded to Texas the honor of being the premier of crop producing states of the Union, Iowa holds her position as third, while Ohio has lost to Missouri the honor of fourth place. During 1912 Texas produced $407,160,000 in the 12 crops reported quantitatively by the government, corn, wheat, oats, barley, rye, buckwheat, flaxseed, rice, potatoes, hay, tobacco and lint cotton. The enormous cotton crop easily gave Texas a big lead over the second largest crop-producing state, Illinois, whose aggregate production was valued at $289,326,000. Iowa's crop value aggregated $284,395,000. Missouri's $196,963,000 and Ohio's $190,718,000.

The total value of these crops produced during 1912 throughout the country was $4,695,161,000, compared with $4,592,338,000 in 1911 and $4,496,647,000 in 1910.

New York, March 17.—With the arrival here of Senora Maria Madero, widow of the slain president of Mexico, steps have been taken by her representatives to secure payment from local insurance companies of large policies on the life of her husband. Now that the explanations of the provisional government concerning the death of Francisco Madero have been officially accepted, the policies will be promptly paid. Washington, March 17.—Instructions to the American diplomatic officers in Europe to secure courtesies from the foreign governments for the American commission which is to visit Europe this spring under the auspices of the Southern Commercial Congress to investigate rural credit systems were issued today by Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan.

Before leaving office Secretary Bryan gave the State Department's approval to the rural credit investigation but since that time the American commission has received approval by Congress and President Wilson, which gives it a semi-official status. In his instructions Secretary Bryan points out that Congress has appropriated $25,000 for the expenses of several commissioners, who will be appointed by President Wilson, to cooperate with the American commission. No salaries will be paid to these commissioners. Congress also passed a joint resolution directing the Secretary of State "to speak for the proposed American commission the diplomatic courtesies of the various European Governments." In carrying out these directions Secretary Bryan has instructed the American ambassadors in Europe to secure for the commission "such courtesies and assistance in the line of its endeavors as it may be possible to obtain," and adds "it will be seen that by this joint resolution the commission under the direction of the Southern Commercial Congress is given semi-official standing."

This act of Secretary Bryan raises the American commission to the standing of a semiofficial body and assures it every facility that can be extended by the European Governments for the conduct of its investigations. The commission is directed by Congress to submit to that body a report on the subject of rural credit systems and the question of adopting the cooperative principle in all lines of agricultural production and distribution.

Though the Southern Commercial Congress began its efforts in a campaign for the adoption of rural credit systems it has received such strong support both from the Federal and State Governments and from private sources that it has been able to enlarge the scope of its work to include a thorough investigation of all forms of cooperative production and distribution in the agricultural field. Cooperative credit is only a part of the immense system of cooperative organizations which has spread all over Europe. Cooperative purchasing organizations, cooperative and municipal markets, where farmers' produce is sold by agents at a fixed commission, the entire balance of the proceeds going to the farmer direct, the cooperative associations for packing and distributing farm products, will all be investigated.

The Democratic national platform, on which President Wilson was elected, contains a plank endorsing the agricultural cooperative movement and President Wilson has already evinced a keen interest in the subject. There now exists a committee of nine Governors of States to consider legislation necessary for the organization of cooperative credit and other associations. This committee, as well as the Federal Congress, will receive the report of the National Commission, and it appears now that next fall a nationwide campaign will be waged in the interest of the cooperative movement among American farmers as a means to increase agricultural production and lower cost of living.

Refuse all substitutes and take only Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Blackmer & Tanquary. Adv.

Township House For Paint Boosted

Regarding the effort to secure a township house in Bloomingburg, which was mentioned in THE HERALD several months ago, the Jeffersonville Citizen makes the following mention bringing out the great good Jefferson Hall has been to the township and town:

"We recently heard through a Bloomingburg citizen that the hustling people of Paint township were feeling the need and value of a township building similar to our town hall.

"Of course they need it and will continue to need it, but if it is properly put to the voters of that township it can be had. A rich farming community like Paint township cannot afford to be without a proper place or community gatherings, Farmers Institutes, Lecture Courses and similar meetings.

"If any of the people in Paint will take the trouble to inquire of any one in this township about our handsome house we know that they will find that all agree that it is worth all it cost and more, and that none would take back the same amount that it cost and be without it. In fact it was paid for in three years and very few realized that it was ever included in the tax levy. Good luck to the enterprising Paint township people and may the township building be yours."

As the two precincts of Upper Paint township each have a handsome township building, one at Jeffersonville and one at Bookwalter, a great many residents of Lower Paint feel entitled to a splendid township house and hall in Bloomingburg, and every indication now is that it will be put up to the voters at the next election.

OVER 800 MEN HEAR CHIEF CARTER SPEAK AT GRACE M. E. CHURCH

Another Remarkable Day in Which 24 Persons Acknowledge Christ and 1300 Hear Sermon.

FRESH IMPETUS IS GIVEN TO THE REVIVAL MEETINGS

Services Continue Throughout This Week, and Large Results Are Expected--Total Decisions Now Reach 185--40 Unite With Church Sunday Morning. Bible Class Attendance 135.

Yesterday was another remarkable day at Grace M. E. church, with the largest men's meeting ever held in the church and with a Sunday night audience which packed every available seat and all standing room, while many could not gain admittance at all. The result of the day's work was the addition of 24 converts; two in the morning, two in the afternoon and 20 at night.

In the Sunday school Sunday morning the attendance was unusually large regardless of the weather conditions, and 135 men assembled in the Bible class. Chief of police Carter, of Columbus, addressed the Bible class, making a short speech which deeply impressed the members of the class.

In the afternoon services over 800 men attended, and the attendance is said to set a new high water mark in the city for men's meetings.

Mr. A. R. Creamer introduced Chief Carter to the large audience, using words especially interesting in his short speech of introduction of a man who has won the respect even of his enemies.

Chief Carter then addressed the men, and while not an orator he spoke at length along the lines of personal experience and personal work and held the close attention of his auditors every minute of the time.

His address was full of sound religion and was delivered in a way that appealed to every one of the 800 men who heard it. Numerous experiences related gave an insight into the life of a Christian Chief of Police of a large city.

During the afternoon services Mr. Raymond Kline, who has charge of the singing, sang "Tell Mother I'll Be There," and there was more than one heart touched by the appeal in the song, and more than one pair of moist eyes in the house are the song closed.

The audience Sunday night is estimated at 1300 persons, and was one of the largest crowds in the history of the church. Chief Carter again addressed the audience for a few minutes on "Worldly Amusements." He was followed by Rev. Ross, who had

ANAEIMIC PEOPLE.

Need More Iron in the Blood.

If you are anaemic, you need more iron in your blood, and the tell-tale symptoms are a pale face, colorless lips, ashen finger nails, poor circulation, and short breath, and more serious diseases are easily contracted when in this condition.

What Vinol did for Mrs. G. S. Manuel, of San Antonio, Texas, it will do for every anaemic run-down person. She says: "I was weak and nervous and had general debility for about three years. My health was badly run down and my complexion became sallow and badly affected with pimples. While in this weakened condition, I contracted pleurisy, which made it very hard for me. I am happy to say that Vinol has restored me to health again, and I have no cough or soreness of the lungs at all."

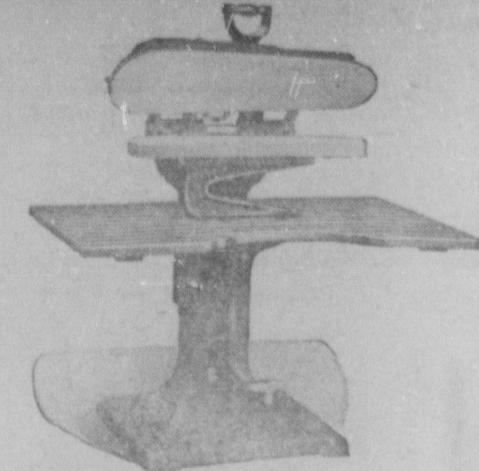

We ask every anaemic or run-down, weak person in this vicinity to try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that their money will be returned if it does not do all we claim. Blackmer & Tanquary, Druggists, Washington C. H., Ohio.

Laying Heavier Steel on Pennsy

Eighty-five pound steel, comparatively new and taken from the Fort Wayne division, is being placed on the local branch of the Pennsylvania Lines near Wilmington, and 15 to 25 miles of the heavier steel will support the present 65-pound rails.

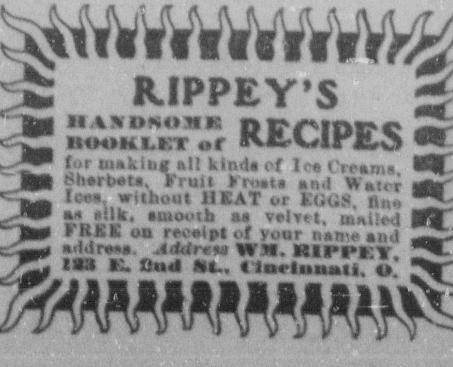

During the coming spring, new 85 pound rails will be laid in the Pennsylvania yards in this city, taking the place of steel that has been in use for nearly a quarter of a century.

Smooth Crook Works Fayette

It developed Saturday that a fellow has recently visited this county selling cheap crockery at a good price and informing his buyers that if the crockery did not prove satisfactory, to return it to the Cockerill grocery in this city, where it would be "made good" by a new piece.

Saturday two or three persons brought broken crockery into the grocery and wanted it exchanged. Inquiry developed that the fellow who had sold the goods had been telling the person who bought it that if it was not satisfactory in all ways, it would be exchanged, as above mentioned.

No such arrangements had been made for redeeming the worthless stuff, and those who have purchased it are beginning to discover that the salesman misrepresented the goods, and they have been "stung."

VIEWS OF OTHERS

EVERYDAY HEROES

A derrick, strained to the breaking point, snapped and fell, the huge iron arm smashing toward the street and narrowly missing a street car.

Passersby, warned by a preliminary cracking, had rushed to safety, while iron workers had fled in all directions over spidery joists.

And then in an instant the marvel happened!

Iron workers swarmed over the fallen derrick, with great ropes and chains, fastening the giant down so that it could do no further damage.

A horse with a scaffold on the wagon attached dashed up, and two men clambered on top of the halted car and snipped the death-dealing wires that threatened disaster.

Before the onlookers had recovered from their surprise the work of undoing the damage was under way.

Hardly a dozen men all told, risking life and limb at every step, so well did they work, so wisely were they directed, that in an almost incredibly short time traffic was resumed and the crowd of idle onlookers has disappeared.

One hardly knows which to admire the most, the men who so fearlessly and energetically work in a crisis, or the mind that so intelligently directs them.

But, anyway, these are the heroes of everyday life—the man in the overalls, who is ready and willing to take up any task that his calling may demand of him without thought of danger or of effort.

You find them on every job; you find them in every vocation.

It is all in the day's work, they say.

But there is no hanging back because of lurking dangers. There is no grumbling because of extra arduous labor.

One and all, they are soldiers for the common good.—Commercial Tribune.

"THE TRAIL OF THE LONESOME PINE."

"The trail of the Lonesome Pine" Eugene Walter's new play from the widely read book of the same name by John Fox, Jr., will be the attraction at the Hartman theater, Columbus Tuesday and Wednesday, March 25 and 26, with a popular priced matinee on Wednesday.

The play has been given a magnificent production by Klaw & Erlanger.

Miss Charlotte Walker in the title role has a part that suits her beyond all others in which she has appeared in the past. Mr. Walter's conception of June, the wild, primitive mountain girl, suits Miss Walker's histrionic ability in every way.

The playwright's dramatic effort has strengthened Mr. Fox's romantic story and the truth of things as they exist among the hardy mountaineers of Virginia is actually seen, where the story can simply arouse the imagination.

The company is a strong one.

Peculiar Case Puzzles Doctors

Several weeks ago Mrs. Belcher, wife of Rev. James Belcher, of Amanda, dreamed that on March 14th, she would go into a trance and remain in that condition until March 17th.

So strong was the vision that she made preparations for the coming trance, and at noon on March 14th she apparently died, one physician pronouncing her dead, while another claimed that he detected a slight pulse.

Previous to entering upon her three days' trance she had her husband promise that he would not allow an undertaker to embalm her until after the 17th.

All interested in the case are watching to see if she will recover at the close of today.

DIED IN LAVATORY OF STEAMER

Other Players Engaged For the American Revue in London Declare That Miss Leslie, the Victim, Was More Cheerful Than Usual the Night of Her Death—Mother Accuses a Man Who Was On Board.

London, March 17.—A melodramatic turn has been given to the death of Frances Leslie, the American dancer, who was a passenger on the Oceanic under the name of Anna Wilson. A cablegram has been received by United States Consul Swalm at Southampton from Mrs. Henry Schmitz of New York, mother of the young woman, in which the mother strongly intimates that a man aboard the Oceanic poisoned her daughter. The name of the man was given, but whether any motive was hinted at can not be ascertained. The cable dispatch has been turned over to the authorities at Southampton, and their answer is that absolutely nothing will be divulged except that an inquest will be held today. Mr. Swalm will attend the hearing in the interests of the family. The body is now in the coroner's mortuary at Southampton. The young woman died in a lavatory.

It can be stated that before the ship landed at Southampton there was a general suspicion aboard the ship that the death of the young woman was due to poison and that the authorities entertain this same theory. However, the passengers do not incline to the murder theory, but believe that if poison was taken it was taken as a remedy for a trouble from which the young woman repeatedly said during the voyage she suffered. The man whose name was mentioned in the cable dispatch went to London with friends, promising to return to attend
the inquest, which was regarded purely
as a formality.

With Miss Leslie en route were other players engaged for the American revue in London, including Arthur Deagan, a comedian; Miss Bessie Clifford, Maida Lane and Eddie Miller, and all of these players are emphatic in saying that on Friday night, the time of her death, Miss Leslie was more cheerful than usual.
They say she was in very good health during the entire voyage, although she frequently complained that she had a weak heart. She had hinted also, they say, that at times she was seized with fits, during which she had several times bitten her tongue through. One of the party quoted her as saying "I wonder if this trip will do my heart any good?"

Father Suspects Foul Play.

New York, March 17.—Henry H.
Schmitz, father of Frances Leslie, a dancer, who under the name of Anna Wilson, 22, was found dead in the laboratory as the White Star liner Oceanic arrived at Plymouth, England, telegraphed to Secretary of State Bryan, asking him to intercede with the British authorities to prevent the body from being embalmed or handled by an undertaker until after a thorough autopsy and proper chemical analysis have been made.

Washington, March 17.—Repeal of that part of the Panama canal act which grants free passage through the canal to American vessels engaged in the coastwise trade is urged by the trustees of the Carnegie endowment for international peace. The passengers do not incline to the murder theory, but believe that if poison was taken it was taken as a remedy for a trouble from which the
young woman repeatedly said during
the voyage she suffered. The man whose name was mentioned in the cable dispatch went to London with
friends, promising to return to attend
the inquest, which was regarded purely
as a formality.

MORSE BACK FROM EUROPE

Former New York Financier Appears
Free From Illness.

New York, March 17.—Charles W.
Morse, who after his release from prison at Atlanta was allotted a year of life by Dr. Charles Fowler, on whose recommendation the financier was pardoned by President Taft, arrived on the liner Kaiserin Auguste Victoria, stepping down the gangplank lightly and looking almost as debonair as in the days when he was a power in Wall street and head of a big steamship combination and a great ice business. His eyes were bright and his face free from symptoms of illness. He will go into business here.

Wilson Again Fools the Curious.
Washington, March 17.—President Wilson again escaped the stares of the curious and worshiped unexpectedly and inconspicuously at the First Presbyterian church. Mr. Bryan also attended services at the same church.

Washington, March 17.—William Jennings Bryan, secretary of state, left for Lincoln, Neb., to attend a pub-

"The Witching Food" Now Queen of the Table

A new corn creation—started ten years ago—has just now been perfected.

It is made from corn hearts—from the daintiest part of the kernel.

It is made into pellets, then toasted and puffed.

It is puffed into bubbles—into airy globules—into almond-flavored drops.

It is insidious and melting—the flavor is new. Folks call it "The Witching Food."

Never has a cereal in all our experience received such a royal welcome.

A Fortune In Diamonds Is Stolen By Thieves In New York

Thieves Tunnel Way Into Vault and Take $300,000 In Gems.

New York, March 17.—Uncut diamonds and diamond jewelry valued at $250,000, perhaps $300,000, were stolen from the vault of Martin Simmons & Sons, pawnbrokers of Hester street. The thieves tunneled under a cellar wall, popped up through the floor and got into the vault by making a hole through two feet of brick. In doing this they evaded a network of burglar alarm wires. The contents of the vault were worth about $800,000.
Negotiable bonds worth $130,000 they cast aside and $100,000 in negotiable notes they scattered on the floor of the vault or jammed in pigeon holes.
Neither did they take many thousands of dollars' worth of gold watch-bands. Diamonds were their game. The robbers came and went through a hole in the ground so small that a child would have to wiggle to pass through.

Parcel Post Business.
Washington, March 17.—Parcel post business last month was almost 40 per cent greater than in January, as shown by reports to Postmaster General Burleson. In February 50,000,000 packages were handled, an increase of 10,000,000 over the previous month.
Cleveland, O., moved from sixth place in January to fourth in February. As in January, the three cities doing the largest parcel post business in February were Chicago, New York and Boston, in the order named.

Columbus, O., March 17.—Police were called to the Parker Street Methodist church (colored) to quell a riot that followed Pastor Love's denunciation in his sermon of a woman of his flock, whom he charged with circulating stories reflecting on his character. There was a general fight, the congregation splitting in two factions. In the melee the minister's coat was torn from his back.

Pastor Stricken at Revival.
Kent, O., March 17.—Rev. W. W.
Dieterich, 32, pastor of the Methodist church, fell in a convulsion during services in the church. He was carried from the church, leaving the congregation bordering on a panic. The stricken pastor is in a serious condition.

Zanesville, O., March 17.—While burned fatally when her clothing caught fire. She rushed out on a
